John and Mary Jones moved to Palo Alto two years ago. Originally from the Bay Area, they met on an intramural softball field in college. About 84 innings later, they married, moved to Seattle, and eventually started their family. Now, they live near Jordan Middle School with their children, Jennifer (4) and Peter (2), and a menagerie of pets including Togo, the terrible terrier, and an albino hamster. They still miss their Seattle friends, but they definitely don't miss the rain. John, an avid tennis player, works near Foothills and hopes to spend many sunny lunch hours on the courts. Mary looks forward to lazy days by the pool and the year both children are old enough for swim team. Maybe then, John will get a racquet in her hand?
